Snow Sends Road Crews In Action Bombers Blast

MORE FLURRIES PREDICTED AS MERCURY FALLS

Temperature Touches 21 At Night; Traffic Slows As Danger Prevails

HUNTERS GIVEN 'BREAK'

Tracking To Be Easy First Day Of Season; Colder Weather Expected

Circleville had its first snowfall of the year, Friday, as temperatures remained in the low twenties and forecasters predicted colder weather.

The snowfall, which measured one inch, according to Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, local weather observer, continued to fall in fine flurries during the morning with temperatures hovering around the twenty-degree mark.

Service department employees were out early and before 9 o'clock Leonard Morgan, service director, reported that all city streets at dangerous intersections, through traffic lights and across railroads, had been sanded.

State Highwaymen also were busy applying cinders to hills and curves on main highways. Cinders have been applied to Route 22 east and west, to Route 23 north and south and to Route 104 north and south, highway officials said, and added that although the snow was still not deep enough to make the use of snow plows necessary, plow crews were ready to begin work should the snow continue.

Tracking Easy

The snow blessed pheasant and rabbit hunters as the hunting season opened at noon Friday making tracking easy. Conservation Officer Clarence Francis reported that if the snow continued Pickaway County hunters would "clean up" the first few days of the season.

Low temperature in Circleville, Friday, was reported at 21 degrees with other cold spots in the state being Dayton, Columbus, Cincinnati and Toledo, all reporting temperatures in the low twenties.

Cleveland enjoyed comparatively mild weather with 35 degrees. Akron had 31, East Liverpool 30 and Cambridge 32.

Today's weather forecast called for continued snow flurries and colder.

MERRIMAN TO BECOME POLICE FORCE MEMBER

Elmer Merriman, 226 Town Street, has been chosen by the Civil Service Commission as a regular member of the police force.

Karl Herrmann, safety director, said Friday that Merriman, who has been serving as an extra patrolman for some time, will fill the vacancy left by Charles Mumaw, who resigned from the force last Sunday. Merriman's appointment will become effective Saturday.

Patrolman Alva Shasteen, suspended ten days ago for disciplinary violations, will return to the force Friday night.

Troops Poised

ACCORDING to reliable reports from Shanghai, the Japanese have poised heavy concentrations of troops and troop transports at the island of Hainan and the French Indo-Chinese port of Haiphong. (See map.) Observers claim the Japanese are readying these troops for a new adventure in south Asia, possibly an attempt to take the French base at Saigon and the Dutch East Indies.

First Allotment Must Be At Fort Hayes Nov. 26, Board Is Informed

The Pickaway County Draft Board received orders from Governor Bricker, Friday, to supply Fort Hayes, Columbus, with three men on November 26. The men are to report for duty at 1 p. m., draft board members reported.

Providing they pass physical examinations, the three called into service will be Dudley Woodrow Stout, 451 East Main Street; Bernard Russell Matz, Stoutsville Route 1, and Millard William Good, 220 East Franklin Street, the draft board pointed out. They represent the first three volunteers for military service. Arrangements for their physical examinations by Dr. D. V. Courtwright will be made soon.

Meanwhile draft board employees continued to send out questionnaires at the rate of 100 a day. Three hundred will have been sent out by the end of the week.

The draft board will meet early next week to begin its classification of the county's 2,700 plus registrants.

ITALIAN TROOPS RETREATING OUT OF GREEK LAND

Athens Spokesmen Declare That Koritza Base Being Abandoned By Il Duce

DESERTIONS CLAIMED

Aerial Attacks On Many Isles, Cities Admitted By Defenders

ATHENS, Nov. 15—Greek troops pressed forward in a general offensive along a 120-mile front today amid claims that Premier Mussolini's Fascist invaders have been pushed almost entirely out of Greek territory and back into Italian-held Albania.

Italian troops still remain only in one-sixth of the fighting zone south of the Greco-Albanian border, it was claimed.

There in the Kalamas River section of the Epirus, the Fascists were said to be threatened with the danger of complete encirclement—with their backs to the Ionian Sea.

(In London the News Chronicle said that British and Greek aerial attacks "seem to have cleared the Italians from Koritza," the Fascist military base in Albania. The Daily Mail claimed that 8,000 Italian troops deserted into Yugoslavia.)

In all other sectors, it was reported, the fighting has been transferred to Albanian territory by the hammering blows of a heavy Greek drive launched at dawn yesterday.

The Italians struck back with aerial bombing attacks and the Greek high command announced that hospitals and houses in inland towns had been destroyed and some civilians killed and injured. The communique stated, however, that no military objectives had been hit.

Isles, Cities Hit

The Public Security Ministry amplified this announcement by stating that the Italians had bombed the islands of Crete and Corfu and the cities of Larissa, Jannina and Cephalonia. It added that in Larissa the Italians scored a direct hit on a military hospital and on several public air raid shelters.

The Italian base at Koritza was described as almost completely surrounded by the fierce Greek warriors, with only a narrow path (Continued on Page Four)

EIGHT STUDENTS REFUSE TO SIGN DESPITE DECREE

NEW YORK, Nov. 15 — Eight young divinity students turned deaf ears today to pleas that they relent and register under the Selective Service Act to escape prison terms of a year and a day meted out to them.

Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, president of the Union Theological Seminary which they attended, pleaded that now "having made their position clear" they would be able to perceive that "no further purpose can be served by persisting in this course."

Their prison terms are being kept "open" and if they change their minds they can register and perhaps escape sentence. Under the act, the students are exempt from service but must register. They claimed their consciences could not permit them to register. They had all pleaded guilty.

"Tough Night, But England's Still Here," Avers Coventry Veteran

COVENTRY, Eng., Nov. 15—Tales of horror and sudden death from the skies were told today by eye-witnesses and survivors of Nazi Germany's terrific aerial attack against this famous midlands town last night.

The streets of Coventry, where Lady Godiva once rode on a white horse in an episode famed in song and story, were pocked with bomb holes and piled high with debris.

But those who escaped the rain of bombs which took a casualty toll of perhaps 1,000 were calm and merely more than ever determined — almost satisfied that they had been given a chance to share the suffering that London has endured for weeks on end.

"It was all crash and bang," said one old-timer of Coventry who had spent the night dodging bombs and doing what he could for victims.

"It fair froze your ears. Crash, went our anti-aircraft guns. Then whoosh and whistle came the bombs. And then the explosions that knocked your teeth loose."

"There was as much smoke as anything else. The whole town was covered with it. But through the grey you could see a red blanket over the whole sky from the fires that the Jerries started. We had a fine full moon when the evening began. Then it went out like a snuffed candle."

"Our boys at the guns and the searchlights did yeoman work. They tried to hold the Jerries in a criss-cross of beams until the shells could get in a lick or two. But they came on and on, dumping their eggs and then zooming away.

"I don't know how many there were. Certainly more than a hundred. Maybe three or four hundred."

"What I do know is that the air was full of noise. Planes and guns. The Jerries dived as low as they could before unloading. They seemed to crawl all over our backs as we slipped around to get as many folk as possible safe down under and help those who were hit."

"It was a tough night."

"But most of us are still here."

"So's Coventry, and so's England."

Americans Rush for Liner Reservations Out of Shanghai

BRITISH REPORT SOVIET DEMANDS ISTANBUL REGION

LONDON, Nov. 15 — Russia and Germany have demanded that Turkey cede Istanbul to the Soviet Union, according to "Swedish reports," the London Daily Herald said today. The Herald added that the Berlin correspondent of one of "Sweden's biggest papers" — quoting a Russian spokesman — sent his paper this account:

The Russians and Germans are proposing that Turkey cede Istanbul to Russia, which would give the Soviets full control of the Bosphorus and Dardanelles. In return Turkey would receive territorial compensation in the form of French-mandated Syria and Iraq, including the British-controlled Mosul oil fields and the Tripoli pipeline.

Otherwise, according to this report, "there will be joint Russo-German military action."

The Daily Herald added: "Turkey's acceptance is hardly expected."

BRITAIN ADMITS LOSS OF SIX MINE-SWEEPERS

LONDON, Nov. 15—Loss of six British mine-sweepers was announced by the admiralty today. The vessels lost were the Rinvia, Sevra, Girl, Helen, William Wesley and Stella Orion.

The announcement said there were no casualties aboard the Sevra or Stella Orion, but that crews of the other ships were lost. It added:

"Despite the enemy's extension of mine warfare our counter-measures have achieved and continue to achieve great success in keeping clear the approaches to our ports."

'BREAK' HINTED IN SPRINGFIELD MURDER INQUIRY

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 15—Prosecutor Jerome Nevius today intimated that "highly important" new information being investigated may solve within 24 hours the mysterious double slaying of two workmen at the Springfield plant of the National Supply Co., which has been working on federal defense orders.

The information, Nevius asserted, tended to support his theory that Jesse A. Ray, 51, machinist, and Fred A. Prior, 44, night watchman, were bludgeoned to death because of a "personal grudge." Meanwhile, Police Chief George Abel reported "no progress" in his inquiry in the killings.

The workmen were struck down at their posts last Sunday morning. Since then, authorities have been baffled, and have been unable to agree on a possible motive. Nevius has contended the murders were committed by a person with a grudge, while police have been working on the theory that the men were slain during an attempt at robbery or sabotage.

WILLKIE ASKED TO TALK AT CINCINNATI MEETING

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15—Wendell L. Willkie, GOP nominee for President this year, may speak at a Lincoln Day banquet in Cincinnati February 12, it was disclosed today.

Hobart A. Wehking, president of the Republican Club of Hamilton County, which is sponsoring the dinner, said Willkie tentatively has accepted the invitation.

GOP leaders here are pressing the defeated presidential candidate to accept because Cincinnati was the only city of its size in the country to return him a majority in the election November 5.

CHIEFS OF WAR STAFFS CONFER

Von Keitel, Badoglio And Others Discussing Next Steps By Axis

BERLIN, Nov. 15 — Gen. Wilhelm Von Keitel, chief of staff of the German high command, Field Marshal Pietro Badoglio, chief of the Italian general staff, and a number of other important German and Italian staff officers are holding an important conference at Innsbruck today, informed Berlin quarters revealed.

Exact purpose of the meeting was not divulged, but it was assumed that the axis military leaders were planning further German-Italian war moves in the light of the current strategic situation.

Nazi circles said the conferees obviously are canvassing all outstanding problems of a military (Continued on Page Four)

Her son and her daughter, Mary Annette Moore, were uninjured. Their wrecked car was taken to the J. H. Stout garage.

A Cincinnati woman named Abley was taken to Berger Hospital Friday afternoon for treatment following an accident on Route 22, west of Circleville. Details were not available.

London Admits Terrific Damage In Raid, Reported To Be Greatest On Inland District Since Outbreak Of War

BERLIN, OTHER REICH AREAS HIT

Heavy Artillery Exchanges Blows Along Dover Shores; Some Casualties Made Known By Defenders Of Island

LONDON, Nov. 15—A terrific German night air raid on the city of Coventry in the English midlands, where casualties may number as many as one thousand, was announced officially in London today.

Extensive damage was caused in the city, it was stated, and many buildings were destroyed, including Coventry's well known cathedral.

German planes attacked Coventry in waves from dusk last night to dawn this morning.

At least 40 bombers rained death and destruction on all parts of the city. It was by far the most severe raid that any section of England has experienced since German bombers battered the east end of London on the opening night of the air "blitzkrieg" last September.

(A German announcement said bombs of the heaviest calibre were dropped on a motor works at Coventry, causing more than 20 explosions and conflagrations. Several hundred German planes attacked the city, it was stated, and several hundred tons of bombs were dropped.)

An announcement by the Ministry of Home Security stated:

"The city of Coventry was heavily attacked last night, the scale of the raids being comparable with those of the largest night attacks on London."

"The enemy was heavily engaged by intensive anti-aircraft fire which kept them at a great height and hindered accurate bombing of industrial targets, but the city itself suffered very seriously."

"Preliminary reports indicate that the number of casualties may be of the order of 1,000."

Fires At Many Points

"The attack was begun by scattering incendiary bombs over a wide area. Fires broke out at many points and indiscriminate bombardment of the whole city followed."

"It is feared that extensive damage was done and that many buildings were destroyed, including the cathedral."

"The people of Coventry bore the ordeal with great courage."

"It is known that at least two enemy aircraft were shot down during the attack."

The German night raid on the midlands area was undoubtedly the heaviest that region has suffered since the beginning of the war.

While these attacks were in progress, however, RAF bombers raided Berlin and other parts of the Reich and German-held territory in what were described as "heavy and successful attacks."

Late this morning London experienced a new air raid alarm, the city's 339th. The all-clear signal sounded before any incidents occurred.

Later it was revealed that British fighters engaged 50 German raiders in a fierce air battle over a southeastern English town. The Nazis were driven back across the channel and one German plane fell into the sea.

Shortly before noon two German raiders appeared over the Thames Estuary. Anti-aircraft guns blazed at them until British fighters appeared, whereupon the Nazi planes fled toward the coast, pursued by the British machines.

Among the places bombed during the night were a hospital, a nursing home and an ambulance station in London and a hotel in a provincial town.

It was estimated that at least 40 German bombers dropped explosives on the midlands region. (Continued on Page Four)

EVACUATION OF LORRAINE BEGINS

Germany Orders French To Leave Border District; Vichy Protests

BERLIN, Nov. 15—The German government today semi-officially announced that evacuation of French-speaking residents of the border province of Lorraine is under way.

(Editor's Note: The Vichy government yesterday protested against this forced evacuation, charging that no provision had been made for it in Franco-German cooperation agreements.)

The Lorrainers are being escorted to the demarcation line between occupied and unoccupied France and are being cared for by the German Red Cross and other relief organizations until they can be resettled in other parts of France "where hundreds of localities are completely empty," it was said.

German officials pointed out that Germany agreed to similar evacuation of German nationals from the Baltic states, Bessarabia and South Tyrol "in the interest of clear-cut racial borderlines" (Continued on Page Four)

HOPE LOST FOR 30 HUNTERS IN NORTHERN AREA

Men Missing Since Early In Week Feared Dead, Result Of Storm

TOLL RISES TO 250

Fatalities Aboard Ships Appear To Be 73, But May Be Higher

CHICAGO, Nov. 15—As hope was virtually abandoned for 30 hunters missing since early in the week in the wake of the gales and snowstorms which lashed the north central states for three days, the storm death toll mounted today to more than 200.

Milder weather permitted renewal of searches for the missing persons, but after they had spent almost a week in the open at the mercy of the bitter cold and icy winds, it was not thought possible many of those unaccounted for would be found alive.

The final death toll among sailors during the worst Great Lakes gales since 1913 appeared to be 73, but this may be raised before all ships are accounted for. In addition, 50 deaths were counted in Minnesota, including 20 duck-hunters found frozen on islands in the Mississippi River in the southern section of the state.

Other deaths attributed to the storms included 13 in Wisconsin, 11 in Illinois, 10 in Iowa, five each in Michigan and Indiana, and four in Colorado.

With scattered fatalities in other northern states, the total storm deaths, it was feared, may rise to almost 250.

Dies in Plunge

SOCIALITE friends of Audrey Anderson, 24, mourn the post debutante daughter of Dr. Walter P. Anderson, who jumped or fell to her death from the 16th floor hotel window of the Countess Hans Scherr-Thoss, in New York City. The girl had been under treatment by a nerve specialist.

'AMOS' OF RADIO TEAM NAMED IN DIVORCE ACTION

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 15—Freeman S. Gosden, known to millions of radio listeners as "Amos" of the famous team of "Amos and Andy," was involved in a real lawsuit today, somewhat different from the many "Amos and Andy" are continually running into on the radio.

His wife, Mrs. Leta S. Gosden, sued him for divorce on a charge of mental cruelty, but cited no specific instances.

They have been married since 1927 and have two children, Freeman, 12, and Virginia, 10, whose custody Mrs. Freeman asks.

Mrs. Gosden declared that her husband's radio work was the disturbing element in their married life.

"After several years in which both Mr. Gosden and I have tried faithfully to make our married life together happy and successful, we have reached the conclusion that this is no longer possible," she declared.

"His radio work necessarily requires so much of his time that it seems impossible for us to live a normal home life. It seems best that we recognize the situation which we both regret."

Gosden was reported "disappointed and upset" over his wife's divorce action.

Jesus' Concern for Life and Health

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Newman Campbell
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for November 17 is Luke 7, the Golden Text being John 10:10—"I came that they may have life, and may have it abundantly.")

"I CAME that they may have life, and may have it more abundantly," said Jesus. If we accept Him and follow in His footsteps, living as He lived, as well as we, in our human frailness can, we surely will have life most abundant.

This whole chapter of St. Luke tells us how He lived, going about healing those who were sick in body, raising a man from the dead and returning him to his mother's arms; forgiving those who had sinned because they repented and believed in Him.

In last week's lesson we left Him surrounded by a multitude and telling them the rules of the abundant life, such as doing to others as they would be done by; loving their enemies and doing good to them, etc. When He had finished this talk, He went to the town of Capernaum at the north end of the Sea of Galilee. There some Jewish elders came to Him, having been sent by a certain centurion (A Roman soldier) because a servant whom he loved was desperately ill, and he wanted Jesus to make him well. The elders told Jesus that the centurion was a worthy man, showing his liking for the Jews by building them a synagogue.

Jesus went with them, but when they neared the house, they were met by friends of the centurion who had been sent with a message to the Master. The centurion, they said, did not feel he was worthy to receive Jesus in his house or to come to Him. But he believed that if Jesus would but say the word, his servant would be healed. He reminded Jesus that he, too, was a leader able to command and be obeyed.

Jesus marvels at Faith
Here was a Roman, one who had never seen Jesus, but who had more faith than His own people. Jesus marvels at him and, turning to His followers, He said: "I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel." The friends, returning to the house, found the servant healed.

Soon after this Jesus went to the town of Nain, 25 miles from Capernaum, and as they neared the city gates, a funeral procession met them. A poor widow had lost her only son by death, and her friends were with her, trying to console her. Jesus must have been filled with pity, and He said to her, "Weep not." He came nearer and touched the bier on which the young man was laid and said, "Young man, I say unto thee, Arise." And the youth who was dead sat up and begun to speak, and Jesus gave him to his mother.

The people who saw the miracle were almost frightened, but they glorified God and said that God had visited His people. These things were told all through the countryside and it was whispered about that here was a great prophet.

John the Baptist was in prison, you remember, having rebuked Herod for wrong doing, and he, too, heard of Jesus' words and deeds. He sent two of his disciples to Jesus to ask if He really was the Messiah, or "look we for another?" John was naturally unhappy and in low spirits in his dungeon and in this condition he probably began to doubt that the Christ he had hailed and baptized might not be the One all his people had been looking for.

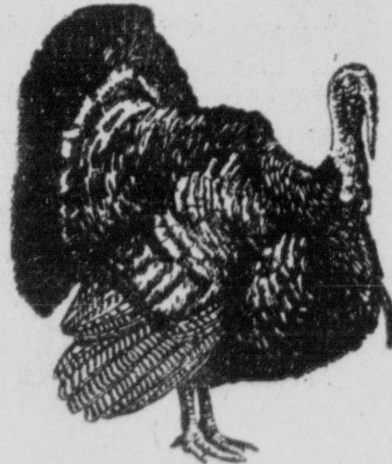

These friends of John's witnessed numerous miracles, and Jesus sent them back to John with the answer: "Tell John what things ye have seen and heard," and "blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in me." Meaning that His acts and words should convince John that He was indeed the Son of God, whose coming John had prophesied.

Tender Toward Sinners

Jesus' tenderness toward sinners is told in another scene related in this lovely chapter from St. Luke. A Pharisee, a man who thought himself much above the common Jew, invited Jesus to his house to dinner. When they were all eating, reclining in the Hebrew manner of the time on couches, leaning on one elbow with their heads toward the table, their feet extended outward, a woman of the streets came in with an alabaster box of ointment in her hand. She went up to Jesus and, weeping, she caressed His feet, washing them with her tears, drying them with her long hair, kissing them, and anointing them with the precious ointment.

The Pharisee was horrified. He did not associate with such people. Jesus, reading his mind, told him a parable. There was a man

Let's "Talk Turkey"

It's "turkey-time" again. Thanksgiving is next week. Christmas and New Year's only a little more than a month away. On these occasions turkey is the feature attraction. That famous old bird never tasted better than when cooked electrically. The moist, even heat of the electric oven preserves the natural juice and flavor of turkey. It will roast it to a delicious golden brown—and it does it without basting, watching or turning.

Get an electric range now. The way it roasts a turkey will just be the first of many delightful experiences you will have with electric cooking.

to whom two men owed money. He said. One owed him a good deal, the other a smaller sum. Neither could pay, so he forgave them both. Which, Jesus asked, would feel most gratitude, the one who owed a good deal or the one that owed little? The one that owed the most, said Simon. You are right, said Jesus, but when I entered your house you gave me no water for my feet; you did not give me the ceremonial kiss of welcome; you did not pour oil on my hand as is the custom to honor a guest. But this woman you call wicked washed my feet with tears of repentance, dried them with her hair, and poured precious ointment upon them.

"Wherefore I say unto thee, her sins, which are many, are forgiven; for she loved much; but to whom little is forgiven, the same loveth little."

And to the woman He said: Thy sins are forgiven. . . Thy faith hath saved thee; go in peace."

And those who sat at meat with Him asked themselves, "Who is this that forgiveth sins?"

F. D. TO CHOOSE 12 JUDGES FOR FEDERAL POSTS

Vacancies Existing On Several Big Circuits
In Country

RECORD TO BE MADE

President's Influence On Judiciary To Be Felt
Many Years

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 — President Roosevelt, with 12 vacancies on federal benches to be filled and another four-year term ahead of him, today appeared virtually certain to establish a record for federal judicial appointments.

Mr. Roosevelt will have appointed three-fourths of all federal judges by the time his third term is ended in 1944, it is estimated. Since most judges selected by the President have subscribed to the New Deal philosophy — and since comparatively young men have been chosen in most instances — the chief executive's influence may be felt in the judiciary for 20 years after he leaves office.

Having already named five of the nine justices of the Supreme Court, the President may appoint three more before his third term is ended. Two are over retirement age and a third will reach the retirement age during Mr. Roosevelt's term.

The President has named 149 out of 277 judges of the supreme, circuit and federal district courts, the court of claims and customs courts.

Two Confirmed
Sen. Schwelmbach (D) Wash. and Rep. Jones (D) Tex. have been confirmed as judges of the federal district court and court of claims, respectively.

The existing vacancies provide possible political plums for defeated Democratic candidates.

The vacancies include judges of the First, Second and Eighth circuits at $12,500 a year, and district judges in several states.

Mr. Roosevelt has already named a majority of judges of seven of the 10 federal circuits and District of Columbia court of appeals. If judges who become eligible for retirement at 70 actually retire during his third term, the President will have named a majority of every circuit.

Circuit judgeships have assumed new importance under the New Deal because labor board cases and many other cases involving administrative bureaus are taken directly to these courts.

OHIO ASSEMBLY BRANCHES PICK OFFICIALS SOON

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15—Republicans and Democrats were ready to select majority and minority leaders of the 94th General Assembly which will meet in its first regular session January 6.

GOP senators-elect to the new legislature were to meet this afternoon in caucus. At the same time, Senator William J. Zou, veteran Cleveland legislator, announced that Democratic members of both houses may convene Sunday November 24, to select minority leaders.

No date has been set for a meeting of Republican members of the lower chamber. However, they are expected to meet the first week in December, according to Speaker William M. McCulloch, of Piqua, who is favored to retain his post.

Slated for re-election at the caucus today are Frank E. Whittemore, Akron, president pro tem and majority floor leader of the senate; Thomas E. Bateman, Columbus, clerk, and Cliff Martin, Cincinnati, sergeant-at-arms. Zou said he was not certain that Democratic members-elect of the two Houses would meet the same day, but added that that date was favored by Rep. George J. Harter, one of the ranking members. The call for the Democratic House caucus of 60 members is to be made by Harter and Rep. Pat Runn, Tuscarawas County, each of whom will be starting his fifth term in the Assembly.

The lineup in the next assembly will be: senate, 20 Republicans, 16 Democrats; House, 78 Republicans and 60 Democrats.

At The Cliftona

The new romantic and dramatic team of Norma Shearer and Robert Taylor makes its first film appearance in "Escape," picture which opens Sunday at the Cliftona Theatre.

Surrounding these two stars is a "name" cast of almost unprecedented brilliance, including Conrad Veidt, star of European films; silent film star, Nazimova; Felix Bressart and Albert Bassermann, who were outstanding figures of the Continental stage; Philip Dorn, young Dutch leading man; Bonita Granville, Edgar Barrier, Elsa Bassermann and Blanche Yurka.

Miss Shearer, who last scored in "The Women," now appears in the much-coveted role of Countess von Treck, American by birth but European by her choice, who finds herself much against her will involved in the desperate attempt of American artist Mark Preysing to rescue his ex-actress mother, Emmy Ritter, from a concentration camp where she has been sentenced to execution. As Preysing, Taylor is given a characterization even more dramatic than that of his Capt. Cronin in "Waterloo Bridge."

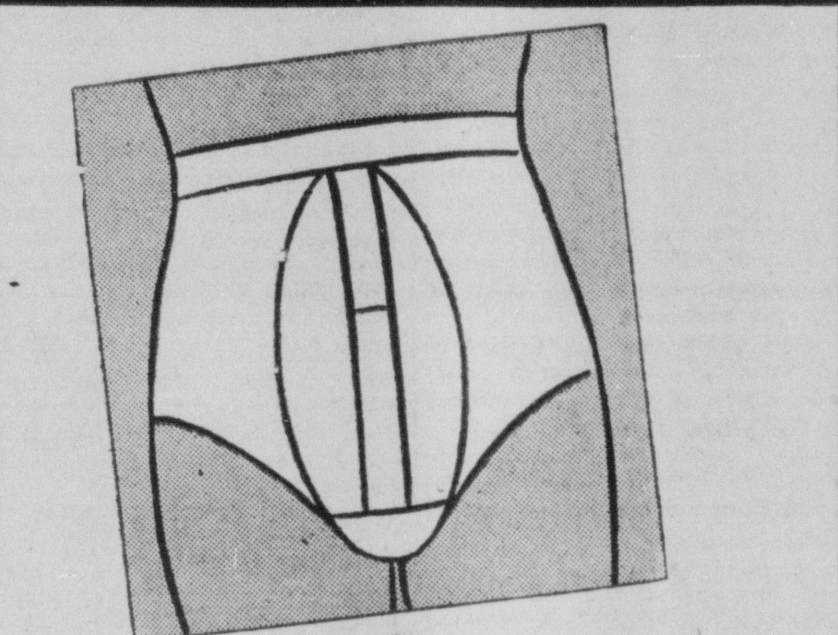

Here's Official Number List For Draft

Editor's Note: The Herald publishes each day a number of names, Serial and Order Numbers of Pickaway Countians who registered under the Selective Service Act. This list is the official one as announced by the Draft Board. In the publication will be the name, serial and order number of each man who registered. In the list below the first number listed is the Serial Number; the second is the Order Number. For instance, Elvin R. Rowland registered. After the registration was completed the local Draft Board shuffled the names and conducted its draw. Rowland was given No. 341 Serial Number. Later the federal government conducted its lottery in Washington and Rowland's No. 361 was the 1182nd Pickaway County number drawn from the glass bowl. So he will be the 1182nd in the county to receive his questionnaire the answers on which will decide whether he will be ordered into service for a year. In each instance below, the first number is the Serial Number and the second one is the Order Number, the order in which the registrant will be asked to fill his questionnaire.

Bombers Blast Midland Region

where they met the heaviest barrage of anti-aircraft fire yet heard in that area.

Several towns, according to reports reaching London, suffered the heaviest damage yet inflicted since the German air "blitzkrieg" began. Several midlands hospitals, a few churches and motion picture theatres and uncounted houses and shops were wrecked.

Late this morning rescue workers were still hunting through debris for victims.

It was learned that some members of the Civil Defense Service were killed in the midlands region, where emergency centers were hurriedly opened to care for the homeless.

The attack on London was an intermittent affair, carried out chiefly by single planes which raced over the city.

Meanwhile, it was learned that a shake-up in the RAF command under Sir Charles Portal is planned to produce even more aggressive aerial warfare.

For-reaching changes in the air force command and in the air force's relations with the British army will be announced in the near future in a move to pep up the RAF and increase its cooperation with the army.

Meanwhile, it was claimed, three steps now being taken by the RAF have slowed down the German attacks on England. These were described as follows:

1—British fighter patrols are attacking German raiders at dusk as the latter take off from their bases in France.

2—British fighters are now escorting RAF bombers on daylight attacks against the German air bases.

3—British night fighter patrols are being kept in the air, regardless of weather conditions. Pilots especially trained for this task are being produced in growing numbers each day.

One member of the royal family, the Duchess of Gloucester, escaped injury during the unprecedented attack.

The duchess yesterday officially visited Coventry and spent the night in the country home of the Earl of Dudley, just outside the city limits.

One of the most important members of the British cabinet minister of supply Herbert Morrison, also was in the neighborhood during the raid, but was understood to have escaped.

DOVER, Eng., Nov. 15—British and German long-range guns fought a violent artillery duel across the Straits of Dover in brilliant sunshine today.

The battle began just before daybreak when the German "big Berthas" began hurling shells at the English southeast coast.

During the night the German guns fired 10 shells that fell in the Dover area, killing and injuring a number of persons and destroying some houses. Authorities said that casualties were not heavy.

At 9 a. m., just as the mist was lifting over the straits, British guns mounted on the Kent coast fired on the German gun positions.

As soon as the British guns went into action an observation balloon was sent up by the Germans. Watchers were able to see the balloon floating high over the French cliffs.

For two hours both sides blazed away and the coastline shook to the crash of explosions as shells rocketed in both directions.

BERLIN, Nov. 15—German raiders last night carried out the "heaviest attacks in the history of aerial warfare" against the English midlands city of Coventry, German experts declared today.

They stated that 450 tons of bombs, chiefly missiles of the heaviest calibre, were dropped on the English city in a stunning night attack carried out by several hundred German planes.

At the same time, it was announced that eight British bombers were shot down during the night when they raided Berlin, dropping bombs that wrecked an apartment house, caused a number of fires and killed four persons in the German capital.

The German night raids, officials said, were "extremely heavy running attacks on 'war-important objectives,' especially at Coventry where bombs dropped on a motor works caused more than 20 major explosions and fires. It was claimed this single attack destroyed "enormous quantities of raw materials and finished products."

Factories Blasted
A number of armament factories at Coventry are believed to have been wiped out by the terrific German air attack, an official announcement said.

German quarters termed the raid on Coventry the Reich's "answer to the RAF raid on Munich on November 8."

(Editor's Note: In the raid on Munich, it was claimed in London, RAF bombers set fire to the beer hall where Chancellor Hitler addressed members of the Nazi "old guard" celebrating the anniversary of his Munich beer hall putsch.)

During last night's attacks on Britain, a Berlin announcement said, London, Dover and other cities were attacked as well as Coventry.

The raids were said to have been carried out under extremely favorable weather conditions.

The Germans lost eight planes and the British 15, the announcement said.

of escape to the northwest still open to the hard-pressed Italian defenders.

The advancing Greek troops were aided effectively by swarms of Greek and British planes which strafed the retreating Italians, reports received in Athens said.

Fierce air battles resulted as the Italian air force went into action, but the Greek high command announced that 11 Fascist planes were shot down and 10 others were "damaged beyond repair."

(Dispatches from Belgrade said Italian bombers attacked British warships anchored at Salonika Harbor, but failed to score any direct hits. Yugoslav fighting planes chased three foreign aircraft away from the Yugoslavian border town of Bitolj, these reports said, adding that two hours later three Greek planes bombed the Albanian town of Pogradec.)

A Royal Air Force communiqué issued at Athens said British bombers destroyed the last remaining jetty at the Albanian port of Valona, damaged the Italian airdrome at Argyrocastro and once more bombed the Albanian port of Durazzo.

With the Italians retreating toward Albania from the Kalamas River, military circles in Athens claimed the conflict was entering a "decisive stage."

The mutual military goal of Germany and Italy was described as a "common effort to pave the way for defeat of our No. 1 enemy—to settle with Britain without compromise."

Simultaneously, Berlin circles looked for an early, cooperative agreement between Germany and Russia as a result of the visit to Berlin of Soviet Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov.

The fact that the Russian ambassador to Berlin accompanied Molotov back to Moscow was regarded as an indication that Russo-German political talks will be revived in the near future to expedite the anticipated Berlin-Moscow understanding.

BUS COMPANY SUES AUTO DRIVER FOR $1,908 DAMAGE

An action claiming $1,908.70 as damages to a bus and loss of use of the vehicle during a repair period was filed Thursday in Ross County Common Pleas court by the Valley Public Service Company against the Lynch Motor Co., Chillicothe, and Jasper Boecher, an employee of the company.

The suit is the outgrowth of a wreck on Route 23, two miles north of Chillicothe, in which Mrs. Emma Wright of Circleville was injured. She suffered complications after the accident that led to her death.

The bus company claims that Boecher drove his car into the bus. Damage to the vehicle was $828.70 and the company contends that the reasonable value for service during the repair period was $36 a day.

BATTERY OUTFIT TO BEGIN FIRING AT CAMP SHELBY

136th Field Artillery To Swing Into Action With Live Ammunition

LOCAL MEN TAKE PART

Each Shell To Be Used In Great Howitzers Weighs
100 Pounds

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., Nov. 15.—First regiment of the 37th Division to fire "live" ammunition at this camp is the 136th Field Artillery. Firing will be with the .45 calibre automatic pistol.

The unit whose batteries are from Columbus, Dayton, Circleville, Piqua, Lima, Caldwell, Cambridge, Dover and Wapakoneta, is commanded by Col. Kenneth Cooper, Toledo.

Members of the Regiment will fire 50 rounds for record. Troops are armed with the pistol for their own protection during an actual war. Their principle mission is to operate the 155 millimeter howitzers. This, the heaviest mobile gun of the army, is designed to knock out concrete emplacements and to smash material and personnel. Because of its high trajectory it is valuable in dropping shells on hidden targets. Each shell weighs 100 pounds.

Fire with the 155 millimeter guns will begin November 25, according to Maj. Harry M. Schwarze, Columbus, regular army field artillery instructor.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15.—The proposed Ohio State Guard, to replace the Ohio National Guard now in Camp Shelby, Miss., for a year's military training, will embrace 4,000 men instead of the 3,000 contemplated originally, Adj. Gen. Gilson D. Light indicated today. He said the expansion was ordered so that units could be placed in all sections of the state where there are now armories.

PLANE FACTORY WORKERS TOLD TO LEAVE POSTS

DOWNEY, Cal., Nov. 15.—More than half of the 5,200 workers at the Vultee Aircraft Plant in Downey were ordered to go on strike today by officers of the aircraft division of the United Auto Workers' Union, a C. I. O. affiliate.

The walkout command was given late yesterday by L. H. Michener, regional director of the union, who claimed Vultee officials had failed to submit an answer to a settlement proposal by a stipulated deadline of 3 p. m. yesterday.

Proposed tie-up of the plant was viewed as a matter of grave importance because the aircraft concern is operating on a 24-hour basis and facing orders of $50,000,000, of which $39,000,000 are for United States army planes.

The union has demanded a minimum wage of 65 cents an hour, against the company's present minimum of 50 cents.

About 3,700 workers were expected to strike.

SAND KILLS TWO

McCONNELLSVILLE, Nov. 15.—Funeral arrangements were made today for Merlyn Maynard, 40, and Alvertus Bailey, 58, who were killed in a cave-in at a sand bank near Stockport. They were attempting to free a power-driven shovel. Another worker, Ed Blind, escaped with bruises.

Neither George Washington nor his wife Martha were excellent spellers.

Holiday Turkey To Be Larger and Cheaper

COLUMBUS, Nov. 15.—Your Thanksgiving turkey should be bigger, better and cheaper than last year's, the State Agriculture department reported today.

The department estimated that, despite the present cold snap which damaged some northern flocks, the 1940 Ohio crop of turkeys would exceed by 20 percent the 1,184,000 birds raised for the market last year. This means that about 1,420,000 turkeys will be raised in the state, or more than enough to supply all Ohio needs and still export a normal quantity.

And since the demand is not likely to exceed the supply, prices should go down if they change at all, a department spokesman said.

Currently farmers are receiving from 16 to 17 cents a pound live weight for their birds, while wholesalers are getting 23 to 27 cents a pound, dressed weight, from the retailers. The latter figure represents a two-cent drop in the last two days, the spokesman added.

"That should make the price to the consumer somewhere between 25 and 29 cents a pound," he added, "about three or four cents less than last year."

"Turkeys are very plentiful in Ohio, all over the corn belt, in fact. The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimated before the present cold snap that the supply this year would exceed the 1939 crop by 11 percent in the eastern half of the corn belt, and by four percent greater in the western half."

"The cold spell, severe as it is, should have little bearing on Ohio prices, though it might result in somewhat higher prices in non-producing states."

"But in Ohio turkeys are plentiful, although somewhat larger than last year."

Despite efforts of breeders to produce an 8-to-12 pound "apartment size" turkey, the smaller birds were said to be scarcer than last year. The weight range this year will run from 10 pounds to 24 pounds, with some even heavier.

"A loss of 'several thousand birds' as reported in the western states makes interesting reading, but will have little effect on an estimated national production of 33,138,000 turkeys," the spokesman said. "You can knock several thousands birds off that figure and still have plenty."

On the other hand, he said, birds fatten up better in cold weather, and the increase in weight might offset the loss through freezing.

OKLAHOMA WIFE KILLER DIES IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

MCLESTER, Okla., Nov. 15.—Roger Cunningham, 35-year-old former Federal Housing Administrator employee, died in the electric chair at the McAlester state penitentiary early today for the murder of his wife, Eudora.

Member of a well-known Oklahoma City family, Cunningham walked to the chair unaided, sat down and closed his eyes. When Warden Jess Dunn asked him if he had any last word, he shook his head. He was pronounced dead within 1 1/2 minutes.

Mrs. Cunningham's body was found in March of 1939 in an open sewer ditch. At first the husband protested he knew nothing of her death, but he subsequently confessed he had strangled her.

over WLW on Sunday, from 10:30 to 11 p. m.

The play will take listeners back to 1890, when Ohio State had only 350 students. It will tell how George N. Cole sent to Chicago for a new round football for he and his classmates to kick around, received an oval by mistake, and then was unable to return it because a prankster stole it from his room and got it dirtied up. Because they had to keep the ball, the students decided to form a team, and in the first season play four games.

Later, the drama will flash to 1900, by which time Ohio State players had standard uniforms instead of the overalls and other makeshift raiment of the early days. Central figures will be L. W. St. John, now athletic director and then a freshman substitute. It will portray the battle between Ohio State and Michigan at Ann Arbor which ended that year in a scoreless tie and won the Columbus team nation-wide fame.

RADIO BRIEFS

Maybe author-humorist Home Croy doesn't know it, but the title of his next book is a radio show. . . his forthcoming novel, to which the screen rights have already been sold, is called "Mr. Meek Marches On" and like the CBS Meek, Croy's Meek is a modest little guy who becomes famous when he refuses to pay poll tax.

Don Quinn, scripter of the Fibber McGee and Molly program, is authoring an article titled "Idiot's Delect" for State Magazine.

Bill Monroe, famous for his unusual religious folk songs, is recording this week "Were You There," a new tune which he'll feature when he guests on the Grand Ole Opry program Saturday.

When screen star Mary Martin drew a classical number to sing she came to Irene Crane, new vocalist on the "Pot O' Gold" and "Treasure Chest" programs for coaching. So, now that Irene sings popular numbers on the Horace Heidt stanzas, Mary drops around to the studio to coach her coach.

The initials BB seem to be tied up with songstress Carol Bruce. She's currently singing on Ben Bernie's program and she's auditioning another batoned by Bobbie Byrne.

SALUTING CINCINNATI

Cincinnati's position as a center of business, cultural and civic activities in the middle west and the nation will be outlined on the "Contented Hour" program Monday, in a salute to Cincinnati to be aired over WLW and NBC.

The program, originating in Chicago, will be heard from 10 to 10:30 p. m. Percy Faith will conduct the chorus and orchestra. Louise King, the Lullaby Lady, also will be starred.

The program will call attention to Cincinnati's importance as an industrial focus for both defense and ordinary domestic materials; its elaborate park system, two universities, monumental railway terminal and other features of interest.

IOWA VS. NOTRE DAME

A play-by-play description of the Iowa-Notre Dame football game at South Bend, Ind., will be broadcast over WLW Saturday, starting at 2:45 p. m. Dick Bray will handle the description, which will be picked up from WLW by 14 other Midwest stations in a "wireless network."

STATE'S FOOTBALL

How Ohio State University built up a football team of national reputation will be told in a seasonal drama to be heard on the broadcast of "This Land of Ours"

OPEN LETTERS TO EVERYONE

FOLK: The Chamber of Commerce has established November 23, the Saturday after Thanksgiving Day, as the official opening of the Christmas season in Circleville, and has made plans for proper observance of the day. It is hoped that on that date all decorations will be in place, that corner lights will be ready and that all stores of the city will be filled with inviting merchandise which will make suitable holiday gifts. Circleville will have a real opportunity this year to further establish itself as the best shopping center in Central Ohio, and I am pleased to see the Chamber of Commerce swinging into action at such an early date. Advancement of the Thanksgiving date to November 21 from November 28 assists merchants by prolonging the Christmas season. If Circleville's Christmas program is going to be a success it must have the wholehearted cooperation of all business houses of the city, because all must pull together to make Circleville's stores the most attractive in the district from the standpoint of appearance and from the standpoint of suitable merchandise. Let's all do all we can to make the 1940 Christmas season the greatest one in Circleville's history.

CIRCUITEER.

TO COUNTY SCHOOLS

ALL: The annual Pickaway County basketball race will begin tonight on half a dozen or so playing courts of the county, and many hundreds of parents and friends of the various participating athletes will have seen a good many basketball games before the season ends. This is a time of the year to which hosts of rural residents look for their athletic entertainment. Pickaway County this year will be represented by some excellent teams. Many fine athletes will be performing in the colors of their various townships and villages. I hope that the season is a great success from every standpoint.

WORLD AT A GLANCE
—By—
Charles P. Stewart

MAURICE M. MILLIGAN has charge of the national drive against election law violations, which are very numerous charged throughout the country in connection with this year's campaign for the presidency, for senatorships and for seats in the house of representatives.

The justice department recently established a special unit to conduct this crusade, and Attorney General Robert H. Jackson named Milligan, as a temporary assistant, to act as head of it. Milligan has a reputation for the effective smashing of crooked political machinery. In his position of federal district attorney in western Missouri he demolished Tom Pendergast's Kansas City organization, to the accompaniment of a lot of criminal convictions, including Tom and quite a list of his assistants.

Thus he seems to be particularly well qualified to go after election irregularities on a still larger scale. Nevertheless, there's a small insect (possibly not as big as a fly) sniffed at by some critics, in the ointment of his selection's suitability.

Among political campaign irregularities that he surely will be called on to investigate will be accusations of violations of the Hatch act, which prohibits partisan activity by any but an expected class of federal office holders.

RAN FOR SENATE
Now, Milligan, having become previous plan to carry the fight for your legal quota of 2.36 mills to the State Tax Commission. Undoubtedly you could have used the additional $2,700 which may have been obtained had you appealed the case, because your buildings are badly in need of repair and additional school supplies would contribute much to an improved curriculum. Still, the generosity of your action in considering the other departmental agencies whose financial status is as bad, and perhaps worse, than your own, shows that you are interested not only in the welfare of your schools, but in the welfare of your community as well. It is through such cooperation that Circleville will be able to weather what many consider its worst financial storm in years.

CIRCUITEER.

TO THE FIREMEN

GENTLEMEN: It is an annual custom that during the Christmas season you play Santa Claus to more than 300 of the city's under-privileged boys and girls. Already you have begun work on the piles of broken toys that have accumulated in the rear of your building, toys that have been brought in by the owners themselves out of their own free will to help other youngsters who are less fortunate than themselves. From now on until Christmas day your shop will smell of glue and fresh paint. Last year you furnished toys for 172 girls and 153 boys in 112 families in the city. This year the demand may be even greater. Still, you are trusting the good will of parents and youngsters to furnish you with a supply of broken toys—and they are confiding in your willingness to offer your services to see that those toys are repaired and distributed where they are needed. No gesture, I believe, on the part of any organization in the city so closely approaches the true Christmas spirit.

CIRCUITEER.

TO CITIZENS

FRIENDS: The Pickaway County Red Cross chapter has begun its annual appeal for membership, and within the next few weeks you will be asked to join in its program of National Preparedness. The membership quota for Circleville and Pickaway County is 1,200, but now more than ever before is the service of such an organization needed. Dr. R. E. Hedges, roll call chairman, has labeled the organization as "an integral part of this community impartial to race, creed or color." Its health and educational services, its home nursing, first aid and emergency relief should be included among the social programs of our community.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SPORTS FOLLOWERS

FANS: Circleville will be represented this winter on the basketball court by a team under the banner of the Circleville Athletic Club. On this team will be many boys who have been graduated from high schools of Circleville and Pickaway County in the last couple of years, and from all indications the team will be a good one, fast and experienced. In order to become a success a basketball team must have assistance. It deserves the backing of all lovers of sports.

DIET AND HEALTH
'It's a 10-Pounder'

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
● We have not heard so much lately of the father who used to boast the day after his wife had just presented him with a 9-pound baby, or 10-pound baby, or sometimes 12-pound baby. The father didn't care the next day.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

how high he raised the ante. This has more or less died out, as I say, and I suppose the reason is that the word got around that a 9 or 10-pound baby was not particularly healthy.

We have just had some light on the subject from Dr. W. D. Hawker of St. Louis.

Large Baby Not Healthy
In the first place, overweight babies are quite a rarity. Taking 9 pounds (4500 grams) as a definition of a large baby, it was found at the St. Louis City Hospital that out of 8,890 deliveries in the last five years, there were only 102 babies who weighed more than 9 pounds. This is 1.1 per cent.

The large baby seems to be in some way associated with a disruption of the system of the endocrine glands in the baby. It used to be said that a great many of them turned out to be Cretins, which is an evidence of thyroid inactivity. In others, there is evidence of pituitary inactivity—in either case, a ductless gland disorder. There is a tendency of these babies to turn into fat, unhealthy children.

Associated with the cause is also the number of children the mother has had. "In this series, the average parity of the mothers was 5.2." Which means, I take it, that on the average, this was the fifth or sixth baby of that mother. Another piece of lore on the subject that I have never seen disputed is that when babies come too close together, the ones toward the end of the series are inclined to be large.

Having babies makes quite a drain on the ductless glands of the mother and the theory is that when three or four come in rapid succession, the last one does not get as much thyroid secretion from the mother as the others, and the thyroid gland does not develop as well.

X-Ray Valuable

It is a good thing that by the use of the x-ray we can tell so much about babies before they are born because in the case of a large, overweight baby it is wise to make special preparations.

There were more cases of operations done in order to deliver the baby; there were more cases of hemorrhage on the part of the mother, and when abnormal presentations occurred they were far more serious than in a normal baby. The actual death rate among the babies was 2 per cent. It is to the credit of the good work at the hospital that there were no deaths among the mothers.

Going back to father who was boasting on the day after of the 9-pound baby, the studies would indicate that he has little reason for boasting or for being congratulated. The large baby is not a sign of an extra healthy condition. In fact, it is liable to be a liability, not only at the time of birth, but also for some years afterwards.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Babies," "Dietary Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE
FRAN SHOOK her head sadly. "You don't need me, Kit," she said gently. "We aren't partners. I just live with you and get paid for it. I don't do anything for you. And I can't do anything with you."

Kit felt distinctly uncomfortable. She smiled experimentally and said, "Come on, darling, it's hot and you've got a grouch on. Didn't you always say that we were entitled to a few good times? And aren't you having a lot of dates with Lars Anderson?" Lars was the drummer who cherished an honest passion for Fran and her cookery.

Fran bit her underlip and was silent. But not for long. She said, "Look, Kit, we're on the subject now and we might as well have it out. Whether I have lots of dates with Lars is of no importance to your career, which IS the subject. I'm not trying to get anywhere. You are! Or you ought to be."

"Didn't you say that Morris White may be able to get me on at the Pond club? And have I not a contract that is as ironclad as any can be? Jerry told you himself that he was doing even bigger things next season."

Fran paid no heed to Kit's words and continued, "Look here, Kit, use your head. You can't stay where you are without working for it. And unless you work hard you won't ever get any further. Right now, in case it hasn't occurred to you, you get paid—overpaid—for doing practically nothing. It may work for a little while, but sooner or later you're going to wind up back of the eight ball."

Kit ran her fingers through her hair and gave a despairing sigh; it was no use trying to placate Fran when she was being unreasonable. But she tried again.

"After all, Jerry is satisfied. What else do you want? I study and work, don't I? Do I have to slip everything else in my life to practice all day to sing a couple of songs a week? Two songs any high school kid could learn in an hour?"

"That's just it," Fran said slowly. "That's the way you sing 'em, too. Any kid with an ounce of brains knows the answer."

Kit was hastily turning the pages of a newspaper and, finding what she wanted, showed the page to Fran triumphantly. "Have a look at this. It's the Crosley rating on the Semblar program and it is still top!"

Fran said wearily, "Why wouldn't it be? Look at the very port you've got. Jerry's had every guest star to help you out except Tostaninni and Shirley Temple. And when you started, the whole credit, the whole darned show might have been yours, a platinum setting for a jewel, the jewel being you."

Kit laughed merrily. "You're a pig, Fran. A nice, pretty blonde, one who wants me to grab the whole thing and use it for my personal use. I've got some news for you. We're going off the air for a couple of weeks."

"Won't that be nice?" Fran said with cold politeness.

"Two whole weeks not to think of a musical note."

"That's certainly going to be a change for you," Fran's voice was withering.

"You're a kill-joy and a meanie, Kit told her amiably. "Have you had your supper?"

"Yes, but I'll get something for you."

"No, I'll do it," Kit told her.

Fran brushed her aside brusquely. "If I'm getting paid, I might as well earn my salary as a waitress, anyway."

Kit caught her and, putting her arms around her, laid her cheek against her shoulder. "Don't be this way, Fran. It makes me unhappy. You know you're all the family I've got."

Fran smiled reluctantly, and melted as she always did when Kit approached her that way. "There's chilled soup, chicken sandwiches and iced tea."

Pouring milk into a glass, Fran said, "Don't you ever think of your voice as something to which you owe a responsibility? Something you have to think of before anything else? Back in the old days you used to tell me that you wanted to sing in light opera, to use the gift of your voice."

"I used to say lots of things in the old days, but we grow up and our ideas change, Fran. After all, that was childish and romantic dreaming. And I do think about my voice, but I don't worry about it. If I weren't good I wouldn't be where I am, would I?"

Her eyes were so honestly questioning, so confident, and she looked so young with her face scrubbed and her hair tied back with a hair ribbon, that Fran couldn't tell the truth. She said, "Well, this is one night when I'll think about it and pop you into bed by nine o'clock. Heifer will be here at eight and you're rehearsing at noon."

From the darkened bedroom, Kit called to Fran, "Don't you think it's funny we don't hear from Vance? He was supposed to get back last night, or this morning."

Fran was already lost in a detective story in her favorite magazine. She grunted, "Huh?"

"He must be back. I know he has a show to do tonight at eleven."

Fran looked up from her page. "He could be doing a duet with Flagstad and I wouldn't hear it. I'm going to bed as soon as I find out who killed the last six people."

Today's Horoscope
A somewhat uneventful year is predicted for those who have birthdays on this date. The stars incline to artistic and literary work of a novel nature, and promise a fair measure of success. Born on this date, a child will possess a strong character, and will be exceedingly intuitive. Such a one will later be liable to disfavor with superiors, however, through self-will and erratic conduct.

Deercreek Garden Club
Program Is Interesting

Mums', Decoration
For Holiday
Discussed

Mrs. Brance Johnson presented an interesting talk on "Chrysanthemums" at the meeting of the Deercreek Garden Club Thursday in the Williamsport parish house. She also discussed "Thanksgiving Table Decorations" and exhibited one of her own designing. A large maple leaf carved of wood held a colorful arrangement of yellow popcorn, bright red apple studded with cloves, bittersweet, grapes and bananas.

Mrs. Fred Tipton exhibited a large amber-colored bowl filled with dainty white Christmas roses. Mrs. Edward Schleich's exhibit, shown on a small embroidered shawl, was a long wooden bowl filled with fruit and featuring a pottery vase and old powder horn. Mrs. William Radcliff was in charge of the business session when the members decided to decorate the community tree as usual at Christmas time but to dispense with the treat. They plan to provide evergreen shrubbery for the Christian and Methodist Churches for their Christmas project.

Mrs. Charles Rose, secretary, reported for the month.

Lunch was served by Mrs. W. D. Gamble, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Lee Ljellen, Mrs. Thurman Bowers, Mrs. Radcliff and Mrs. H. W. Campbell.

The next meeting will be December 12 in the parish house when Christmas decorations will be discussed. The annual exchange of gifts will be made at this time.

Ashville Garden Club

The twenty-fifth meeting of the Ashville Garden Club was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Isaac Miller, near that community. Four visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Noggle, Circleville, Miss Wilma Jean Whitehead and Mrs. Kenneth Fullen, joined the 27 members for the evening.

Mr. Noggle, guest speaker, delighted the group with his talk on "Roses" which he had previously presented at a meeting of the Pickaway Garden Club. He also showed the artistic views of gardens taken during his summer vacation trip through the East.

Mrs. Harry Trego conducted the business meeting when the project of planting redbud trees in the park was further discussed. It was decided to leave the project in the hands of Mrs. Chester Rockey and her committee.

Miss Nelle Osterle distributed the new year programs.

The next meeting will be the Christmas Tea, December 12, at the home of Mrs. Whitney Lamb of Commercial Point.

Cage Fives Get Action Friday Eve

Five League Tilts Booked; Ashville, Walnut Play Non-Loop Foes

Basketball will be in play on six courts Friday evening when the annual Pickaway County schedule opens. Five of the games will be league contests, while the other will be a non-league joust between Ashville and Stoutsville, the tilt being on the Ashville hardwood.

The schedule
Salt Creek at Deercreek.
Pickaway at New Holland.
Scioto at Washington.
Darby at Jackson.
Monroe at Perry.

Walnut Township, not scheduled in the league, will invade the Hamilton Township, Franklin County gymnasium, for action.

Washington Township's game with Scioto will provide Circleville fans an opportunity to see some action, because the Washington school is playing all its home games on the Circleville high court.

The league race this year is expected to be a wide open one, with nearly all schools of the county losing outstanding cagers. Ashville, last year's champ, has to find replacements for Junior Gregg and Barney Reese, two of the best in the county in recent years; Pickaway has to replace George Wilson, Johnny Anderson, Junior Rhoades and Neil Leist; Scioto lost Everett Beers among others, and nearly all have jobs of finding new stars to lead their aggregations.

Since girls games are not played this year, reserve teams will provide the preliminaries.

Deercreek's team, minus Shorty Easter and Eddie Carter of last year, won a 27-15 practice game this week against the Hilltoppers, a Columbus church organization team. Coach James Diley used H. Schein and Frazier as his starting forwards, Dewey at center, West and R. Carter at the guards. Substitutions included R. Schein, Wright and McDill.

ZIVIC HAS EDGE IN BETTING OVER YOUNG AL DAVIS

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—Fritz Zivic, Pittsburgh's newly-crowned welterweight champion, today was a 6 to 5 choice to defeat Al Davis, New York's hard-hitting contender in a 15-round non-title bout in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Fight experts generally agreed that young Davis will have to stop the champion to win, but there are many who believe he can turn the trick.

The fight will find Davis pitting a terrific left hook to the body against the greater experience and superior guile and ringmanship of Zivic who is a pretty fair puncher on his own account.

Davis ranks with Leach Cross, the old time lightweight, as one of the most unpoplar boxers who ever drew on a glove. Like Cross, thousands of fans go to a Davis fight hoping to see him licked.

IRISH HEAVILY FAVORED TO DEFEAT IOWA TEAM

NOTRE DAME, Ind., Nov. 15—A near capacity crowd of 56,000 was predicted today for unbeaten Notre Dame's homecoming game against Iowa here tomorrow. Interest has been heightened by the fact the Irish have lost both previous games played with Iowa, in 1921 and last year, and although Notre Dame will rule heavy favorite over the Hawkeyes tomorrow, nothing is being taken for granted.

PLAN FOR VOCATIONAL TRAINING IS PROPOSED FOR SCHOOL MEN

ADMINISTRATORS ATTEND CONFAB ON DEFENSE ACT

Preliminary Plans Talked At Columbus Meeting Of Officials

WORKABILITY DOUBTED

Out-Of-School Persons To Be Given Chance To Aid Industry

Proposed plans for a Vocational Training program in occupations essential to National Defense were mailed, Friday, to superintendents of Pickaway County schools.

The action followed immediately the return of Superintendent George D. McDowell from a meeting of county school authorities in Columbus, Thursday, where preliminary plans for the program were discussed.

Superintendent McDowell stated plans, as far as the schools of the county were concerned, were still remote and added that he questioned the workability of such a program in Pickaway County's rural schools.

However, he stated that an outline of the plans would be sent to school superintendents for their consideration.

The program, known as the Ohio Plan, was authorized by an act of Congress and proposes a vocational program of instruction essential to National Defense. The program is primarily for out-of-school rural and non-rural unemployed youth, and does not affect in any way those boys and girls now in school. Congress has set aside $288,194 for setting up the program in Ohio, with 40 percent of that amount to be used for the purpose of equipment.

Program Provided

The Ohio Plan also provides for a training program to be administered through the National Youth Administration, with a shifting of NYA persons into occupations essential to national defense. The program does not affect NYA school students, however, and therefore will not pertain to the 48 NYA students in the county schools.

According to J. L. Kelly, district Works Projects Administration manager, the conduct of the vocational program is primarily the responsibility of the state and local school authorities, and the school authorities are responsible for determining the need for training. Manager Kelly has reported that local school authorities shall establish an Advisory Board, consisting of representatives of industry, organized labor, the Public Employment Service and the WPA. With the advice of this board, the local school authorities shall determine the general skills for which training shall be given by their schools, the number of persons to be so trained in their schools and the content of the training courses to be given.

With the whole program still in its early stage of development, Superintendent McDowell pointed out that it may be some time be-

8,323 ACRES OF LAND INSURED

Nearly 1,300 acres more Pickaway County farm crops are insured under the federal crop insurance program for 1941 than were signed for the 1940 program. Agricultural Conservation Chairman John Boggs pointed out Friday.

Acres insured under the 1941 program total 8,323, while in 1940, 7,076 acres were signed. Under the 1940 program, 595 bushels of wheat, ten percent of the total collections, were paid out as losses.

Conservation officials will attend a district conference in Chillicothe, Tuesday, November 19. The meeting, to be sponsored by the Agricultural Economics Department of Ohio State University, will pertain to the agricultural outlook for 1941.

Administrative problems under the 1941 triple A will be the subject of discussion at a meeting in Wilmington Wednesday, November 20.

fore the program can be made to fit the Pickaway County school system.
